Instructor - Jim Pryde

Jim began his career 41 years ago with the Olympia, WA Police Department, retiring in 2009 as commander of the Special Operations Bureau. Jim was chosen as Chief of Police for Gladstone PD in 2009 & led the department through many significant challenges to arrive at a more professional culture & achieve state accreditation. He served as the Director of Emergency Management for the city as well.

Though Jim retired recently, he serves on the Police Administration Committee for the International Association of Chiefs of Police & their Diversity Coordinating Panel, & reviews leadership articles for IACP's Police Chief magazine. He was a presenter at the 2014 IACP conference & is a member of the Police Executive Research Forum. Jim is regarded as an innovative & courageous visionary who mentors organizations & people to achieve their greatest good.

Jim is a graduate of the 205th session of the FBI National Academy & holds a MA in Social Science from Pacific Lutheran University. He also served as an FBI Leadership Fellow for six months in-residence at the FBI Academy. Jim has provided leadership development training & consultation nationally for the FBI Law Enforcement Executive Development Association – & built the original curriculums for both the Supervisor & Command Institutes. Some of Jim's leadership development consultation clients have been the Minneapolis PD, Cleveland PD, the Gaithersburg PD, the Williams Institute for Ethics, Management Technology Corporation, & New Mexico State Police.

Jim served on the executive board of the Portland FBI Joint Terrorism Task Force & continues to provide leadership development training & coaching to LE leaders throughout the United States.

Jim & his wife Susan have 6 children & live on a small farm in eastern Clackamas County. He is a professional musician & is writing his first book.
